

Adri. Backe slauie, or I will breake thy pate a-crosse.
Dro. And he will blesse y^e crosse with other beating:

Adri. Hence prating peasant, fetch thy Master home.

Dro. Am I so round with you, as you with me,
 That like a foot-ball you doe spurne me thus:
 You spurne me hence, and he will spurne me hither,
 If I last in this seruice, you must case me in leather.

Luci. Fie how impatience lowreth in your face.

Adri. His company must do his minions grace,
 Whil' I at home stand for a merrie looke:

Hath homelie age th' alluring beauty tooke
 From my poore cheekes? then he hath wasted it.

Are my discourtes dull? barren my wit,
 If voluble and sharpe discourse be mar'd,

Vnkindnesse blunts it more then marble hard.
 Doe their gay vestments his affections baite?

That's not my fault, hee's master of my state.
 What ruines are in me that can be found,

By him not ruin'd? Then is he the ground
 Of my defeatures. My decayed faire,

A sunnie looke of his, would soone repaire.
 But, too vnruely Deere, he breakes the pale,

And feedes from home; poore I am but his stale.

Luci. Selfe-harming lealouise; fie beat it hence.

Ad. Vnfeeling fools can with such wrongs dispence:

I know his eye doth homage other-where,
 Or else, what lets it but he would be here?

Sister, you know he promis'd me a chaine,
 Would that alone, a loue he would detain,

So he would keepe faire quarter with his bed:
 I see the Iewell best enamell'd

Will loose his beautie: yet the gold bides still
 That others touch, and often touching will,

Where gold and no man that hath a name,
 By falshood and corruption doth it shame:

Since that my beautie cannot please his eie,
 Ile weepe (what's left away) and weeping die.

Luci. How manie fond fooles serue mad Ielousie?

Exit.

Enter Antipholus Erratis.

Ant. The gold I gaue to Dromio is laid vp Safe at the Centaur, and the heedfull slauie

Is wandred forth in care to seeke me out
 By computation and mine host's report.

I could not speake with Dromio, since at first
 I sent him from the Mart? see here he comes.

Enter Dromio Siracusa.

How now sir, is your merrie humor alter'd?

As you loue stroakes, so iest with me againe:

You know no Centaur? you receiue no gold?

Your Mistrisse sent to haue me home to dinner?

My house was at the Phoenix? wast thou mad,

That thus so madlie thou didst answer me?

S.Dro. What answer sir? when spake I such a word?

E. Ant. Euen now, euen here, not halfe an houre since.

S.Dro. I did not see you since you sent me hence
 Home to the Centaur with the gold you gaue me.

Ant. Villaine, thou didst denie the golds receipt,
 And toldst me of a Mistrisse, and a dinner,

For which I hope thou felft I was displeas'd.

S.Dro. I am glad to see you in this merrie vaine,
 What meanes this iest, I pray you Master tell me?

Ant. Yea, dost thou iere & flowt me in the teeth?

Thinkst thou I iest? hold, take thou that, & that. Beats Dro.

S.Dro. Hold fir, for Gods sake, now your iest is earnest,

Vpon what bargaine do you giue it me?

Antip. Because that I familiarlie sometimes
 Doe vse you for my foole, and chat with you,

Your sawcinesse will iest vpon my loue,
 And make a Common of my serious howres,

When the sunne shines, let foolish gnats make sport,
 But creepe in crannies, when he hides his beames:

If you will iest with me, know my aspect,
 And fashion your demeanor to my lookes,

Or I will beat this method in your sconce.

S.Dro. Sconce call you it? so you would leaue battering, I had rather haue it a head, and you vse these blows long, I must get a sconce for my head, and Inconce it to, or else I shall seek my wit in my shoulders, but I pray fir, why am I beaten?

Ant. Dost thou not know?

S.Dro. Nothing fir, but that I am beaten.

Ant. Shall I tell you why?

S.Dro. I fir, and wherefore; for they say, euery why hath a wherefore.

Ant. Why first for flowing me, and then wherefore, for vrging it the second time to me.

S.Dro. Was there euer anie man thus beaten out of season, when in the why and the wherefore, is neither time nor reason. Well fir, I thanke you.

Ant. Thanke me fir, for what?

S.Dro. Marry fir, for this something that you gaue me for nothing.

Ant. Ile make you amends next, to giue you nothing for something. But say fir, is it dinner time?

S.Dro. No fir, I thinke the meat wants that I haue.

Ant. In good time fir: what's that?

S.Dro. Basting.

Ant. Well fir, then 'twill be drie.

S.Dro. If it be fir, I pray you eat none of it.

Ant. Your reason?

S.Dro. Left it make you chollericke, and purchase me another drie basting.

Ant. Well fir, learne to iest in good time, there's a time for all things.

S.Dro. I durst haue denied that before you were so chollericke.

Ant. By what rule fir?

S.Dro. Marry fir, by a rule as plaine as the plaine bald pate of Father time himselfe.

Ant. Let's heare it.

S.Dro. There's no time for a man to recouer his haire that growes bald by nature.

Ant. May he not doe it by fine and recouerie?

S.Dro. Yes, to pay a fine for a perewig, and recouer the lost haire of another man.

Ant. Why, is Time such a niggard of haire, being (as it is) so plentifull an excrement?

S.Dro. Because it is a blessing that hee bestowes on beasts, and what he hath scantied them in haire, hee hath giuen them in wit.

Ant. Why, but theres manie a man hath more haire then wit.

S.Dro. Not a man of those but he hath the wit to lose his haire.

Ant. Why thou didst conclude hairy men plain delers without wit.

S.Dro. The plainer dealer, the sooner lost; yet he looseth it in a kinde of iollitie.

Ant. For what reason.

S.Dro. For two, and found ones to.

Ant. Nay

Ant. Nay, not found I pray you.

S.Dro. Sure ones then.

Ant. Nay, not sure in a thing falsing.

S.Dro. Certaine ones then.

Ant. Name them.

S.Dro. The one to saue the money that he spends in trying: the other, that at dinner they should not drop in his portage.

Ant. You would all this time haue prou'd, here is no
 time for all things.

S.Dro. Marry and did fir: namely, in no time to re-couer haire lost by Nature.

Ant. But your reason was not substantiall, why there is no time to recouer.

S.Dro. Thus I mend it: Time himselfe is bald, and therefore to the worlds end, will haue bald followers.

Ant. I knew 't would be a bald conclusion: but fofit, who waits vs yonder.

Enter Adriana and Luciana.

Adri. I, I, Antipholus, looke strange and frowne,
 Some other Mistrisse hath thy sweet aspect:

I am not Adriana, nor thy wife.

The time was once, when thou vn-vrg'd wouldst vow,
 That neuer words were musicke to thine eare,

That neuer object pleasing in thine eye,
 That neuer touch well welcome to thy hand,

That neuer sweet-sauour'd in thy taste,
 Vnlesse I spake, or look'd, or touch'd, or car'd to thee.

How comes it now, my Husband, oh how comes it,
 That thou art then estranged from thy selfe?

Thy selfe I call it, being strange to me:
 Thy vndiuidable Incorporate

Am better then thy deere selfes better part.
 Ah doe not teare away thy selfe from me;

For know my loue: as easie maist thou fall
 A drop of water in the breaking gulf,

And take vnmingled thence that drop againe
 Without addition or diminishing,

As take from me thy selfe, and not me too.
 How deere would it touch thee to the quicke,

Shouldst thou but heare I were licentious?
 And that this body consecrate to thee,

By Ruffian Lust should be contaminate?
 Wouldst thou not spit at me, and spurne at me,

And hurle the name of husband in my face,
 And teare the stain'd skin of my Harlot brow,

And from my false hand cut the wedding ring,
 And breake it with a deepe-divorcing vow?

I know thou canst, and therefore see thou doe it.
 I am posselt with an adulterate blot,

My blood is mingled with the crime of lust:
 For if we two be one, and thou play false,

I doe digest the poison of thy flesh,
 Being strumpeted by thy contagion:

Kepe then faire league and truce with thy true bed,
 I lue distain'd, thou vndishonoured.

Antip. Plead you to me faire dame? I know you not:
 In Ephesus I am but two houres old,

As strange vnto your towne, as to your talke,
 Who euery word by all my wit being scan'd,

Wants wit in all, one word to vnderstand.

Luci. Fie brother, how the world is chang'd with you:
 When were you wont to vse my sister thus?

She sent for you by Dromio home to dinner.

Ant. By Dromio?
